

Have you ever been challenged with helping someone you know choose assisted living? How can Golden Crest help you?

27 years ago, Kimbra and Robert Meekins choose to open their very own assisted living home with the hopes of providing a homey atmosphere for seniors and educate people to understand what assisted living really is. The passion that Kimbra and Robert Meekins (owners) have towards seniors is undeniable. With the resident's well-being as the top priority, every service that Golden Crest provides down to every last miniscule detail is thought out and revisited often. With hospitality and resident service as the highest concern, Golden Crest is confident that your loved one will get the attention and care that they deserve. "The reward is knowing that day-to-day we are giving back to residents who have given so much to their families and so often to the community. The least we can do is welcome them to a wonderful place to live," said Kim Meekins.

Golden Crest Assisted Living takes great pride in providing a safe, comfortable, and warm place for people to live independently with assistance. A 16 bed model is our proven approach in providing the highest quality care. Every resident matters and becomes part of the family.

As you walk through the front door of Golden Crest, you may smell a home-made turkey dinner with all the fixings

"My sister and I deeply appreciate everyone for their faithful care and dedication. My mother is well cared for. That has been a great load off our minds and heart. Mom is very content."

wafting from the kitchen, hear laughter bursting from the activities room during a competitive game of charades, and see residents socializing outside in the courtyard under umbrellas holding fresh glasses of lemonade. This holistic type of atmosphere is what Golden Crest prides themselves in providing on a daily basis.

Life continues with dignity, security, respect, laughter, and choices at Golden Crest. The Meekins family lives, works, and worships in this community and prides themselves in the quality of care that they offer to their neighbors.
